December 6, 2010

Rules book; Case book

PLAY 1: In

- (a) fans from Team A are shining a laser light pointer on Team B players.
- (b) the band from Team A is playing during a live ball.

How should this be officiated?

Both situations are prohibited by rule. The officials should notify game management in

- (a) to have a public-address announcement made stating that the use of such an object is prohibited.
- (b) to instruct the band to only play during the permitted times.

In both situations, if the problem continues, it may result in a technical foul being assessed to the team supporter(s). [1-18; 1.18]

PLAY 2: The official is in Team A's frontcourt when he/she is contacted by a pass thrown by A1 from Team A's backcourt. After touching the official, the ball:

- (a) goes out of bounds.
- (b) rebounds to the backcourt where it is recovered by A2.

How should this situation be officiated?

Touching the official is the same as touching the floor where the official is standing. In

- (a) the ball is awarded to B for a throw-in.
- (b) the ball has been in the frontcourt and then has gone to the backcourt while in Team A's control.

It is a violation for A1 to cause the ball to go from A's backcourt to frontcourt and return to the backcourt untouched if A1 or a teammate is first to touch it after it has returned to the backcourt.

[4-4-4, 9-9-2; 4.4.4]

PLAY 3: A1 drives to the basket with B1 in pursuit. As A1 begins the act of shooting, B1 gets a hand on the ball from behind and the subsequent contact takes A1 forcefully to the floor and out of bounds. How should this play be officiated?

An intentional foul shall be charged when the contact is judged to be excessive, even though the opponent is playing the ball. A1 will attempt two free-throws from the shooting foul, and Team A will get the ball for a throw-in nearest to where the foul occurred. [4-11, 4-19-3, 10-6 Penalties 4; 4.19.3B]

PLAY 4: B1 is directed to leave the game because of excessive blood on his/her uniform shirt.

- (a) Team B's manager has an extra jersey packed.
- (b) Team B's manager has failed to pack any extra shirts. The coach asks one of his substitutes to give his/her shirt to B1.
- (c) Team B's manager has failed to pack any extra shirts. Team A is able to find a shirt which B1 can wear even though it is not exactly the same color or style of the Team B shirts. The shirt, however, will clearly identify B1 as a member of Team B and will not be confusing to either team or the officials.

How should these situations be administered?

Acceptable procedure in each situation. In each, the scorer will make necessary changes in the scorebook without penalty. B1 must leave the court before changing jerseys, which means a substitute is required.

COMMENT: The spirit and intent of the rule is to do everything possible to allow the player to use a different shirt and return without penalty. However, identical numbers shall not be allowed on the same team.

[3-3-7; 3.3.7A]

PLAY 5: Officials discover blood on A1 and B1 simultaneously. Both players are directed to leave the game.

- (a) After notification by the officials, Team A chooses to call a time-out to keep A1 in the game, while Team B elects to substitute B6 for B1.
- (b) After notification by the officials, Team A chooses to call a time-out to keep A1 in the game. Team B also wishes to keep B1 in the game and plans to use Team A's time-out to save B1.

How are situations (a) and (b) different? Is Team B coach correct in his thinking in situation (b)?

(a) B6 must enter the game prior to the official granting the time-out for Team A. A1 must be ready to play by the end of the time-out. B1 may not re-enter the game until the next opportunity to substitute after time has run off the clock. [3-3-7; 3.3.7C]

(b) If players from both teams are directed to leave the game because of injury/blood, both teams must request and be granted a time-out in order to keep each player in the game. If the head coach from Team B wishes to “save” B1, he must also call a time-out. [3-3-7 Notes 1]
